

Who is ready for some hockey?

SaskEnergy and the City of Melville are gearing up for the drop of the puck to kick start the 2012 SaskEnergy Hockey Day in Saskatchewan celebration.

On November 22, at Davison School in Melville, SaskEnergy representatives were joined by a number of special guests to announce that SaskEnergy has renewed its commitment as the title sponsor of Hockey Day in Saskatchewan and to outline details of the Western Hockey League (WHL) Youth Experience Contest. The 2012 Host Committee is the City of Melville and many events are planned for Jan. 21, 2012. Melville was selected to be the host community.

The funds raised will help to offset the additional costs of the recently-opened Horizon Credit Union Centre.

“I was extremely happy with the response to the Hockey Day in Saskatchewan event in Melville,” McClintock said. “The school setting enabled kids in the community to hear what the promotion is all about — promoting the game of hockey and keeping rinks alive so they can enjoy the game.”

Kelly McClintock, Saskatchewan Hockey Association General Manager, speaks to students at Davison School.

After the speakers made their announcements, it was time for Gus and the students to have some fun. Two students were selected to take part in a 'find Gus' activity. The selected student was blindfolded and the students in the audience had to guide the blindfolded student with their cheers.

Each of the two students were successful in their quest to find Gus and was rewarded with a prize courtesy of SaskEnergy.

The morning was capped off with a pizza lunch.

SaskEnergy Hockey Day in Saskatchewan is a province-wide event that sees a number of activities happening throughout the weekend of Jan. 20-22.

The rink is the focal point of Saskatchewan communities and it is no different for SaskEnergy Hockey Day in Saskatchewan. SaskEnergy and the SHA encourage communities to organize fundraisers over the Hockey Day weekend, so they can keep their rinks and hockey programs going.

At the Melville event, SaskEnergy announced that the WHL Youth Experience Contest is now open. As part of the initiative, SaskEnergy will send ten minor hockey teams to a major junior hockey game in each of the Saskatchewan-based WHL cities. The program promotes team-building and gives minor hockey players in Saskatchewan the chance to see where their hockey careers may take them.
