

SaskEnergy Digs, Sets, and Spikes for Volunteers

The 2015 CIS Men's Volleyball Championship was held on February 26th – 28th at the University of Saskatchewan's Physical Activity Complex in Saskatoon. It featured the top eight university men's volleyball teams in the country vying for the CIS national title in a bracket type playoff.

Fans gather around the volleyball court where the CIS Championship will be played. Photo by CIS

SaskEnergy contributed to this event through its continued support of the volunteers and being the unofficial Champion of Volunteers. Volunteers received a SaskEnergy logoed volunteer shirt and handbook along with their accreditation.

Volunteers show off their volunteer shirts during one of the sets

The championship event saw nearly 11,000 fans in attendance over the weekend as they watched multiple action-filled and exciting sets with a familiar name coming out on top. The University of Alberta Golden Bears beat the Trinity Western University Spartans in straight sets to claim the CIS Men's Volleyball Championship for the second straight season. The host University of Saskatchewan Huskies won the consolation final to place 5th in the country.

The University of Alberta Golden Bears with their championship trophy and banner. Photo by CIS